Home Extension News

The Budgeters Home Extension group's first meeting of the new year was held at Vera Boger's on January 16th, with six members present.
A new member, Mrs. Clinton Bancroft, was voted in. After the business meeting the evening was spent working on paint-by-number kits, which was enjoyed by everyone.

Jackie Hatfield gave the lesson on Redecorating on a Budget, which was discussed by all the members and very interesting.
A small change of office was made. Jackie Hatfield brought up the suggestion that the secretary and treasurer's office should be divided, and asked if someone would take over one of the other. Beverly Wilcox became the new secretary, with Jackie Hatfield remaining as treasurer.

The penny prize was won by Mrs. Fox. The event ended with a delicious 24-hour fruit dessert, cake and coffee served by the hostess, and everyone having a wonderful time.

The next meeting will be held with Zina Valen on January 30 with paint-by-numbers planned for the evening.

G. MENNEN WILLIAMS has a habit of dealing with the public in a well known job as Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs in the administration of John F. Kennedy.

Put simply, Williams must change the habit of speaking his mind in public on whatever issue he wishes or any question that is put before him.

For 12 years, Williams has been the public leader of the Democratic party in Michigan.

As such, he had to answer primarily to himself for any view he might express on any issue. In short, Williams was the chief policy maker of the particular organization which he represented and as such he was a leader to be followed.

In Washington, it is a different story.

As a member of the Kennedy "team," Williams must be extremely cautious not to embarrass or offend the administration. His job, though it may truly deal with more important questions than he faced in Michigan and be of greater significance from the standpoint of world governmental affairs, is nevertheless that of an Assistant Secretary of State.

That Williams recognizes the difficulty of his new role is certain. He has admitted he will miss the freedom of opinion which he had as governor. As he made the transition, Williams said he "can't say very much now because now I don't speak until I hear the leader speak."

The adjustment is, of course, one which many people have made before Williams.

But Williams served as a chief of state for much longer than most Michigan politicians. In the war party of another. He also held a special position among Democrats and was even instrumental in helping his new boss get elected President.

Still there is no doubt that the habit of 12 years will be hard to break, even for a man of Williams' intellectual ability.

DIGNIFIED OTIS M. SMITH, Michigan's Auditor General and the first Negro to be elected to statewide office, takes himself and his job seriously.

Above all he believes in his own responsibility to do the job to which he was elected.

Smith is proud to be the first of his race to attain such a high position, but he is also cognizant of the weight of the responsibility that brought him to a position of leadership.

He also seems to feel deeply the gratitude and humility toward people who elected him that some politicians might shun.

Smith compiled a distinguished record as an attorney, and as chairman of the Public Service Commission before Gov. G. Mennen Williams appointed him Auditor General to fill the vacancy created when Frank Szymanski left to take a Wayne County judge ship.

Smith's election apparently came, not because of the fact that he is a Negro, nor in spite of it, but because voters felt he had demonstrated that he could do the job.

"YELLOW JAUNDICE", the liver-damaging ailment which is really infectious hepatitis under another name, hit a peak in Michigan during 1960.

State health officials said the disease should decrease slightly in 1961, if it runs true to its pattern of reaching a peak about every six or seven years.

The more than 2,000 cases of the disease reported in the state last year came close to doubling the previous record, set in 1954.

Michigan mirrored a national increase in the disease during 1960. Sanitation breakdowns in certain communities during an unusually wet spring season were largely to blame for the jump, officials said.

Infectious hepatitis spreads through the intestinal-oral route, the doctors said.

Best protection against the disease is a high degree of personal cleanliness, with frequent hand washings a necessity. Winter and spring, when family members are in frequent close contact, are the peak times for outbreaks.

"CHARITY BEGINS AT HOME"

By PAUL L. ADAMS
State Attorney General

The open-hearted and open-handed American people are being preyed upon by a few unscrupulous solicitors. These racketeers not only relieve us of our money, but they divert millions of dollars each year from going into legitimate charity sources.

It is estimated that Americans give nearly $6 billion a year to charities. Most of it is well spent, and it is mismanaged and wasted; and an estimated $150,000,000 a year is siphoned off by the cheats and frauds.

All of us are subject to charity solicitations — by phone, by mail, door-to-door, and by other personal contacts. Should we be uncharitable to these charities? Should we turn them all down?

Most of these charities need our help, but we can help them and help ourselves at the same time if we are careful about our donations. This can be done by following these simple rules:

1. Know your charity. If it is not a well-known organization with which you are acquainted, check its authenticity. You might check with the chamber of commerce — better — business bureau — your local law enforcement agency or if these groups can't help you, you might want to check with the Consumer's Protection Division of the State Department.

2. Know your solicitor. Request complete identification to be sure that the solicitor is a representative of the charity organization to which he or she claims to be working. If you suspect that the solicitor is an impostor, contact one of the agencies mentioned above.

3. Know your contribution. Obtain a signed receipt for your contribution. This receipt should contain the full name and address of the charity and should be clearly signed by the solicitor.

By following these rules you can protect yourself and help many charities that are really in need of assistance.

Chamber of Commerce Minutes

Meeting of the Board of Crawford County Chamber of Commerce, 22 December 1960.

Members Present: Rochette, Schultz, Jansen, Wolff, Johnson and Gust.

Guest: John Stephan.
Meeting was opened by President Rochette at 5:20 p.m.

No. Treasurer's report and no bills presented for payment.

The floor was given to John Stephan to point out the need for local advertising to highlight the activities of the town to attract the passing motorist attention. His proposed program would include the participation of other organized groups and the individual retailers. The cost and financing were discussed with the board.

It was the opinion of the board that the Winter Sports board and the Retail Association should have this promotion explained to them and that there would be a combined discussion of all interested.

The Secretary — Manager asked that the board consider setting aside a portion of the map advertising money to be earmarked for map mailing to inquiries received by his office. This would insure a wider and better distribution of the maps in places that would do the advertising the most good.

A copy of the audit of the Chamber's '59-'60 year was given to each of the board members for their examination and approval.

A progress report was made of the financing and plans for the Winter Carnival.

As requested by several of the members, the closing of local retail business for funerals was Learning From Dr. Schweitzer . . .

Incongruous as it may seem, a group of U. S. scholars are journeying to Equatorial Africa to study the philosophy of brotherhood and its value to our hopes for world peace. The group is visiting Dr. Albert Schweitzer at his missionary hospital at Lambarene, just south of the equator. The youthful scholars who are going to Africa at the invitation of Dr. Schweitzer are students of philosophy, religion and civic affairs from all parts of the U. S. They will hold a series of meetings with the world-famed Nobel Prize winner. The purpose of the visit is to clarify and publish English translations of Dr. Schweitzer's philosophy in an American "primer" that could well be a foundation for a type of thinking that is all too lacking in today's world.

The meetings are being sponsored by the U. S. headquarters of the Schweitzer Education Foundation which has appealed for all the aid possible to finance young students on the trip, plus financing hospital equipment and supplies that are the doctor's ever-present need. A hint of Dr. Schweitzer's fundamental philosophy which is particularly appropriate as the nation enters a critical New Year is revealed in one of his Sunday sermons: "There is a great river behind us (adjacent to Lambarene). In its upper reaches it is swift and tumultuous. There are turbulent currents and dangerous rapids. It is a savage stream. The further it flows, the broader and stronger and more tranquil it becomes.

"The Holy Spirit is like that. At first there is very little sign of its presence in the hearts of men. But little by little it grows stronger and men become filled with it." (From "The Africa of Dr. Schweitzer")

One can only wonder why there cannot be more Dr. Schweitzers in the world.

May Their Advice Be Heeded . . .

Current events give special interest to a statement which has been issued by 277 of the nation's Roman Catholic bishops, including five U. S. cardinals. As reported by United Press International, they view with grave concern a decaying trend toward conformity and call for a revival of traditional ideals of individualism "before it is too late." They find that "we have been faced by a frequent lack of truly responsible leadership both on the part of management and of labor." In attaining social welfare goals, they believe, "Pressures are growing for a constantly greater reliance on the collectivity rather than on the individual." Further that, "An inordinate demand for benefits, most easily secured by the pressures of organization, has led an ever-growing number of our people to relinquish their rights and to abdicate their responsibilities . . . intensive socialization can achieve mass benefits but man and morality can be seriously hurt in the process."

The statement of these high-ranking churchmen is directed to parents, businessmen, labor leaders and to government which has done so much through a philosophy of welfare-statism to undermine individualism and personal responsibility.

Michigan, in spite of the "recession," is going to participate more and more in winter sports. The winter-sports-minded are just not going to be denied this pastime. While the weatherman came close to breaking up the sport last Sunday, and practically wiped out the big toboggan slides the following day, a good break developed Tuesday when heavy snow again covered the grounds and nearly zero weather has prevailed. Double crews of men are working at the park day and night and everything will be in shape again Saturday. Sunday will be Bay City - Saginaw Day and large crowds are expected from each one of these cities.

It was a great show, that Golden Gloves tournament held at the school gymnasium three nights last week - and two this week. Over 100 entrants made the affair a spirited one. The semi-finals and finals on Tuesday and Wednesday nights completed the schedule, the winners being slated to appear in Bay City soon to compete with other district tournament winners. Grayling's contribution of entrants made good showings, but, with the exception of Rudy Harrison, were unable to reach the finals last night. Harrison, a fighter of fighting class, won the district championship by defeating Frank Whiteman of Boyne City and Charles Gonzor, also of Boyne City.

Very pretty in its simplicity was the wedding of Miss Virginia Engel, daughter of Mr. August Engel, who became the bride of Mr. Norman Myr of Detroit Sunday at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Theodore Stephan, on Edinboro. The ceremony was officiated at the ceremony at 2 o'clock before an arrangement of greenery in the living room of the Stephan home. Attending the couple were the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yokom of Grosse Pointe, and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Lewis Engel, of Newberry. Mrs. Myr is a graduate of Grayling High School of the class of 1934, and shared the honors of valedictorian of her class with her sister, Matilda, now Mrs. Norman Dawson. The best Alpena ball club that has been seen on the local flag gave Grayling High a 48 - 23 trouncing last Friday night. Houghton Lake presented a smooth-working team that took the Grayling's to pieces with the exception of coping the game. They did this to the tune of 10 to 24.

46 YEARS AGO

January 28, 1915

The Avalanche gave out a brief announcement in our last issue that the school house was burning. Before the papers reached the post office there remained only a memory of the structure and a few smoldering ruins and charred masonry marking the place where it had stood. The building was a complete loss, while most fixtures and supplies, other than the desks, were saved.

Throughout the history of Grayling schools it was plain to be seen that capacity for growth had not been successfully provided for. Every school building that has been erected has been outgrown almost before it was in operation. The building just burned had been added to until it was an unwieldy building to heat and poorly ventilated and the thought of razing the building and erecting a new one was a larger burden than they wished to assume, however this question is now settled and we will soon have a new brick, modern school house. The present members of the board are as follows: Charles T. Jerome, president; Melvin A. Bates, moderator; Marjorie Hanson, Stanley N. Insley and Henry A. Bauman. No doubt these men feel the weight of responsibility of providing a new school building and would perhaps gladly hand the reins over to some other suitable person, however, we believe that it is the general opinion of the people that this work couldn't be in better hands.

William Fischer had his ankle badly sprained while playing basketball at the gymnasium last Wednesday evening.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Esbern Olson on Thursday last, a fine baby boy.

Among those who attended the Charity Ball given under the auspices of the Hospital Aid Society at the Temple Theatre last Tuesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McKay, Misses Nina Fleming, Stella Blumenthal, Helen Tolfree and Messrs. Clare Blakeley, Donald Nelson, Joseph Lally, Walter Huck and Ange Lorenzo of West

MT. PLEASANT — Bob Haskett, a Central Michigan University freshman from Grayling, has played an important role in helping the Chippewa swimming team compile a 4-3 won-lost record for the first half of the season. Haskett has been a consistent winner in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle events so far, and swims the lead-off position on Central's 400-yard freestyle relay team. The 19-year-old Haskett is a pre-med major at CMU.

Grayling Freshman Aids CMU Swim Team

Mr. Pleasant — Central Michigan University's swimming team, 4-3 for the year, wrapped up its first semester schedule at 7:30 p. m. Friday with a home meet against Kent State of the Mid-American conference.

Central will be rebounding from a 7-23 dunking suffered at the hands of another Mid-American member, Bowling Green, in the Chippewas' last meet here last week.

The CMU swimmers, runners-up to Southern Illinois in last year's IAC meet, already own victories over Eastern Illinois, Illinois State, Wayne State and the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Losses have been to Bowling Green, Albion and Notre Dame. Centrals' four victories have been largely due to strength in the freestyle events where freshmen Bob Haskett of Grayling, Pete Haffke and Bill Hyslop of Saginaw, and veterans Norm Browning of Niles and Dick Griffith of Ann Arbor have been consistent winners.

Roscommon County Women To Organize Republican Club

Groundwork for the organization of a Republican Women's Club in Roscommon County is underway. Mrs. Ruth Buck of Houghton Lake, who is vice-chairman of the Roscommon County Republican Committee, announced today that all women in Roscommon County, as well as in neighboring counties, are cordially invited to attend the first meeting to be held on Monday evening, January 30, 1961, at 8 p. m. Place of the meeting is Denton Township community building in Prudenville, just south of the blinker light.

Letters To The Editor

Flint, Michigan
January 26, 1961
Crawford County Avalanche,
Mr. Robert Strong, Editor
Dear Mr. Strong:

I have read the article in your paper dated Jan. 5, 1961. I take issue with the writing and particularly with the people that did the research on it.

I moved from Bay City, Mich., to DEWARD in 1901 with my mother and father. At that time I was less than two years old. I spent all of my young years there. My father was an inspector on the D. & C. Railroad. This railroad ran from Frederic to East Jordan. It is the founders and the original good citizens of the town could read this article they would turn over in their graves.

Deward was a very prosperous mill town, the largest and most modern in the north. It supported a general store with everything from patent medicines to clothing. It supported a doctor. Our church was filled with worshippers every Sunday. Deward had no saloons.

We had a very good school from the first grade to the eighth grade. To graduate from the eighth grade, we went to Frederic to take the state board examination for high school. If we passed we could go to Frederic, Grayling, Alba or East Jordan high schools. Most of us took advantage of East Jordan because of railroad transportation.

As to the "moonshine" era, this happened after the lumber days. This period came with the import of people from out of the state for the second cutting pulpwood and this was centered closer to Frederic than the now known Ghost Town of Deward.

Respectfully submitted,
Wesley J. Wood,
322 West Witherbee St.
Flint, Michigan.
P. S. I am still a good member of the north country.

$9 million In Life Insurance Held Locally

(Special to the Avalanche)
New York — Residents of Crawford County have been improving their financial security in recent years by increasing their ownership of life insurance.

This has been taking place despite the fact that their old-age and disability protection, under the Social Security program, has been getting greater, year by year.

Locally, the amount of life insurance in force at the beginning of 1960 is estimated at $9,191,000. The facts and figures on the distribution of insurance throughout the county are revealed in the 1960 Life Insurance Fact Book at national and state levels. They are based on statistics gathered from the 1,875 companies in the United States, authorized to sell such insurance.

They show that this form of protection is five times as extensive now as it was 20 years ago but that the growth has been at a slower rate in some sections of the country than in others. The biggest gains have been in the South and in the West.

As a whole, the American people are now insured to the tune of nearly $600 billion. Some $24,567,000,000 of it is in the State of Michigan.

Per household, the state total is the equivalent of 18.6 months' disposable income, after taxes, for the average household. This is calculated from income figures supplied by Sales Management.

On the basis of this ratio, in Crawford County, where the average household income locally was $4,560 in the year life insurance ownership is in the indicated amount of $7,070 per household.

This compares favorably with the coverage existing in the county in 1955, $4,100 per household. The fact that a larger proportion of the population than ever before has some form of life insurance protection is due, in part, to the willingness now of companies to issue policies to applicants they would previously have rejected as poor risks. These include diabetics, people with heart trouble and people in hazardous occupations.

Today, about 97 percent of those who apply for life insurance can get it.

County Business Population Levels Out After Postwar Growth of 22 Per Cent

The business population of Crawford County has held steady over the past year following more than a decade of growth which saw the number of businesses in the county grow from 88 in 1947 to 107 in 1959, an increase of 22 per cent. Listings for 1960 totaled 106.

These figures were released by Willard S. Garrison, District Manager of the Detroit office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., in connection with the annual mailing of requests for financial statements to county businessmen.

According to Mr. Garrison, each January business concerns in all parts of the United States are asked to furnish financial statements for copies of their financial statements. This year requests are being sent to approximately three million business concerns — to the corner grocery store as well as to businesses worth millions.

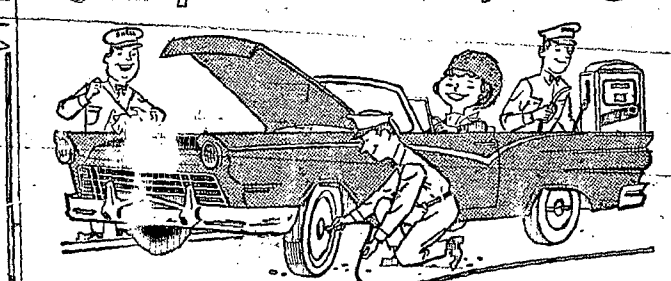

The Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book lists those manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit but it does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers. Therefore, the figures for total business in the United States would be higher than the three million quoted above.

A gown of white velvet was chosen for the bride, Miss Gloria Mehigan, for her marriage to Richard H. Rasmussen at St. Joseph church in Owosso on Saturday, January 21st.

The dress featured a fitted bodice with cowl neckline with a throat-high scalloped lace yoke above it, wrist-length sleeves, and a dip below the waistline in front. The floor-length full skirt was gathered into puffs of smocking centered with pearl on the front and train. A waist-length veil was held with crown of pearls, and the bride's flowers were a white orchid centered on a white prayer book and tied with streamers.

The 10 o'clock double-ring ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Father John S. Daniel. White snapdragons and carnations decorated the altar, and a white carpet was spread for the bride's progress down the aisle. Mrs. David Stechschulte of Owosso was the organist, accompanying Miss Mary Ann Gail of Owosso, vocalist, who sang the beautiful "Ave Maria."

Attending the bride was Mrs. Harold Pintar of Flint, matron of honor. Her gown was of light turquoise velvet with a scooped neckline, short sleeves and a full gathered skirt. With it she wore a white fur crown, turquoise shoes, and carried a white fur muff with feathered turquoise ornaments.

Miss Greta Rasmussen, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. She was attired identically with the matron of honor.

Miss Shelly Owens of Flint was the flower girl. She wore a pale turquoise floor-length gown with full skirt and turquoise satin
